DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 03 September 2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 27-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claim 27, line 2, the limitation of "210°C" is not supported by the originally-filed specification and thus, constitutes new matter (it appears that this temperature should be - - 200°C - - ; see page 8, lines 21-24 of the specification and original claim 8).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 21-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the admitted prior art on page 1, line 20 to page 3, line 20 of the instant specification in combination with Hoyt (U.S. Patent 5,728,226 A) and Chenevey et al (U.S. Patent 4,002,426 A).

The admitted prior art teaches a process of operating a spinning device as claimed, including the steps of closing apertures with plugs and subjecting a device to pyrolysis (or heating). The admitted prior art does not explicitly teach subjecting a device to a second heating (oxidation) treatment, or an amorphous carbon in the binder (for the plugs). Hoyt (see the entire document, in particular, col. 1, lines 27-44) teaches a process of operating a spinning device including subjecting the device to a first heating (e.g., pyrolysis) treatment and then subjecting the device to a second heating treatment, wherein the second heating treatment is performed in air and thus, the second heating treatment is oxidative in nature. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the disclosure of Hoyt with the admitted prior art principally in order to clean a spinning device and to remove the plugs without having to use additional materials (i.e., solvents). Chenevey et al (see the entire document, in particular, col. 7, lines 1-4) teaches a process of operating a spinning device including the use of an amorphous carbon in a binder material, and such would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in the admitted prior art in view of Chenevey et al principally in order to provide reinforcement for the binder material.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 21-38 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
